

Margaret Doyle

Contributing Editor for Economist Conferences

Speaker, writer and chair on global business and finance

Professional Experience - original, independent insights

- senior commentator and facilitator at board room and ministerial level
- internationally recognised as an expert on macroeconomics, corporate strategy, business leadership and finance
- highly respected for presenting new insights on complex subjects in a straightforward and engaging way
- an articulate and incisive presenter with strong, natural moderating skills

Publishing and media exposure

- comments regularly on business, the stockmarket and the economy
- Editor of the World Economic Forum's Davos magazine Global Agenda
- frequent television commentator: NBC (nightly news and show); CNN and CNN International; Britain's ITV and Japan's NHK
- newspaper reviewer on BBC Breakfast and Sky News Sunrise
- radio commentator on the BBC: Radio 3 Nightwaves; Radio 4 The World Tonight and Five Live (Bannister/Hayes, Simon Mayo, Breakfast), and NPR including commentaries on Marketplace
- BBC radio presenter, including Radio 4's flagship Today Programme, The World Tonight and Analysis; Wake up to Money on Five Live and the World Service World Today

Sample assignments

- Chairman European Commission ministerial meeting; Harvard Business School Global Leadership Forum; Commonfund annual investment conference; Institute of International Integration Studies, Trinity College, Dublin
- Keynote speaker: The Mersey Partnership; Trinity College, Dublin, Enterprise Ireland CEO Forum and Institute of European Affairs
- Chairman of Economist Conferences events on pharmaceuticals, insurance, banking, property, retail and shipping industries, mergers and acquisitions, Asian finance, public-private partnerships and public sector reform
- Chairman of seminars on economics, politics and transport for The Economist talks
- Advises one of the Big Four on thought leadership

Margaret Doyle – Personal biodata

- Editor of Global Agenda, the World Economic Forum's Davos magazine
- The Economist. Finance correspondent and Editor, Economist TV
- City writer with The Daily Telegraph
- management consultant McKinsey & Company within the Financial Institutions Group, advising clients on strategy and performance improvement
- read Economics at Trinity College, Dublin (BA (Mod), 1990), where she was an Entrance Exhibitioner and Foundation Scholar
- MBA from Harvard Business School (1994), where she was both a Fulbright Scholar and Baker Scholar

"Your superior grasp of the topic and strong skills as a moderator kept the session engaging and of great interest to the audience. We strive to raise the bar with each program and we're able to do so because of the strong support from leading experts such as you."

Verne Sedlacek, President & CEO of Commonfund