

Larry Jeddelloh

Founder, Managing Director and CIO – TIS Group

Global Finance & Investment Strategy

Professional Experience – rigorous, independent insights and forecasts

“Larry Jeddelloh constantly travels the world and has more connections and sources than anyone out there. He routinely predicts global events and trends that are scoffed at as one-in-a-million long shots by the market (and the uninformed) only to have them routinely come to pass. Larry is also a very successful money manager, so he knows how to translate his predictions into actionable ideas.”

- Larry Jeddelloh is considered to be one of America’s best respected independent investment management professionals in America.
- Based in Minneapolis, his 30 year tenure in the industry and the deep network of contacts spanning multiple continents bring unique perspective to his research.
- His current outlook for the US and world economy and for the financial markets reflects his belief that “business cycles end in recessions, but credit cycles end in depressions!” and that we will witness further declines in the markets.
- In early 2007, Larry correctly predicted a significant slow-down in the US economy stemming directly from problems he was highlighting in the credit system.
- Editor of The Institutional Strategist and Managing Director & Chief Investment Officer of TIS Group.
- He advises institutions, hedge funds and mutual funds asset allocation, geonomics and investment strategies. He is a strategic advisor to Guardian Group, a major Canadian mutual fund and sits on the advisory board of Swiss Capital Strategies, a European fund of funds.
- Larry has a strong international expertise and exposure and spends over one third of his time traveling, especially to Europe and the Middle East.
- He has particular strength of focus on oil, gold and across the spectrum of ‘hard’ and ‘soft’ commodities. His long-held outlook on oil (to reach US$187 a barrel) provides strong debate about the geopolitical and market implications.

Media exposure - an authority on Global Financial markets

- A sought-after commentator interviewed and quoted in various international media, including the Wall Street Journal, Newsweek, Forbes, Money Magazine, Your Money, US News & World Report, Barron's and Global Finance.
- He regularly appears on Bloomberg and other TV business news channels.

Sample assignments

- Larry makes over 300 presentations and speeches a year to both his clients and conference audiences.
- He presents on the US and the World economy, on China and its changing role in the global financial markets as well as the outlook for economies like Russia, Eastern Europe, Middle East and Africa.
- He makes special presentations to Boards and senior management in various financial institutions.
- Regularly provides confidential briefings to groups of private family investors.

Larry Jeddelloh - Personal biography

- Founded TIS Group in 1995 and is the Editor of The Institutional Strategist, Managing Director & Chief Investment Officer.
- Previously Chief Investment Officer of Resource Capital Advisors.
- Formerly with Union Bank of Switzerland (UBS) in Zurich as Chief Investment Strategist.
- Also was a partner with Leuthold and Anderson Investment Management Counseling and Weeden & Company, an institutional brokerage firm.
- Larry has taught courses in investment and corporate finance at the University of Minnesota, Northwestern College and Augsburg College.
- Bachelor of Science and an MBA from the University of St. Thomas St. Paul, Minnesota.